A partner with Baretz+Brunelle, Jason consistently has earned a place at the table as a trusted advisor to several of the world's most prominent legal, consulting and financial services firms, developing strategic communications campaigns tailored to their specific business goals.

He counsels clients on the achievement of business objectives through communications initiatives ranging from the promotion of practice areas to crisis communications efforts. The cornerstone of his work involves positioning his clients as experts before their target audiences, from the development of creative strategies through the execution of campaigns that enhance clients' reputations.

The head of B+B's Chicago office, Jason has spent more than 10 years in senior-level positions with agencies in the legal and professional services industries. He previously helped lead the crisis communications practice of another agency, where his quick and thoughtful analysis of client situations and close media relationships made him a go-to resource for litigation public relations and other crisis assignments. He is a graduate of The Ohio State University.
